

Bunnie, the dog, needs a home

Bunnie has such a steadfast personality. Her energy is contagious. When we met her in the shelter, she was hopping up and down in her cage (hence the name) as if to say, "Oh, please play with me. Choose me. Choose me."

This 5-year-old American Bull Dog/American Staffordshire Terrier mix loves people. She loves running and playing. Bunnie plays fetch, sits on command, and gently "releases" toys she has fetched. She rides great in the car and loves walks. She is a happy girl eager to prove to someone that she has what it takes to be a great companion. Bunnie wants to be the center of attention in her family. She would prefer not to share the space with other pets.

She always wears a huge pittie grin. Won't someone give her a real reason to smile by adopting her?
